

Preparing your Razor Scooter for the Winter

Now that we are entering the colder, darker months of the year, it is really important to still look after your Razor scooter so that it is ready for play on those crisp winter days and when the Spring returns next year!

Here at re:creation Ltd, we have three top tips to make sure your Razor scooter stays happy and the battery remains in tip-top condition during the Winter months:

1. Make sure you have turned the switch on your scooter to the "off" position. This is also essential each time you have finished riding it.
2. Razor scooter batteries rely on a regular charge to ensure you get the optimum charge out of them. We recommend that you put your Razor scooter on charge for the suggested 12 hours every 4-6 weeks throughout the Winter to keep your battery in tip top condition.
3. Razor scooters don't mind the cold, but they hate frost! Whether storing your scooter in a shed or garage, make sure you keep them well protected from the frost.
